

Strategy Execution's Course Pack Subscriptions

Learning that is tailored to what you need to know.

Learning no longer happens on a linear path. Successful project leaders have skills that cross silos and include various disciplines. With that in mind, Strategy Execution has created e-Training subscriptions that include handpicked courses to help you build the critical skills needed to execute projects in today's complex business environment.

As experts in project-focused training, Strategy Execution has curated topic-based content just for you and your team.

Using an e-Training subscription model, we offer three course pack options for you to choose from:
