

Program Management

TwentyEighty Strategy Execution's program management training helps program managers at all levels develop the project management, business, and leadership skills needed to focus on high-level, strategic business goals. Our curriculum includes program management courses that support PMI's Standard for Program Management knowledge areas as well as other key business and leadership skills that are critical to successful program management. Select courses are available through our GSA Federal Supply Schedule GS-02F-0058P contract.

Available Courses:

Aligning Project Management with Organizational Strategy

Aligning Project Management with Organizational Strategy gives you an in-depth analysis of the process, from business strategy formation to portfolio development to the project and project manager's role. Learn how to link your project to business strategy, apply and maintain alignment of the project strategy, and manage the expectations and interests of those who have a stake in the project's outcome.

Leading Complex Projects

Leading Complex Projects provides an innovative approach to assessing project complexity and deploying the best techniques to achieve success.

Program Management

In this course, you'll learn to initiate a program, develop a solid business case, manage stakeholders at all levels, develop a detailed roadmap (including program and governance plans), and define key deliverables and outputs needed for realizing program benefits. You'll also manage change and program challenges, and close out the program effectively.

Rapid Assessment and Recovery of Troubled Projects

Rapid Assessment and Recovery of Troubled Projects demonstrates a proven process for project recovery. You'll get everything you need (process, tools, techniques) to perform a rapid assessment of a project in trouble, develop a recovery plan and manage the transition to stabilization.

Leading Federal Government Project Managers (FPM 314)

This course helps you take a nimble approach to leading project managers, managing direct reports and managing the expectations of senior audiences.

Program Management for the Federal Government (FPM 311)

This course lays the foundational knowledge and skills to implement essential activities throughout the life cycle of a typical government program.

Get the latest full course information:
www.strategyex.com/program-management

Certification and training partners:

+1 703.558.3000
strategyex.com/gov
govt@strategyex.com